The preparation of Wills is an increasingly complex area of private client work. Matthew combines a high level of technical expertise with a practical common-sense approach that he has developed over many years of advising individuals and families.

Notable Wills cases

Wills

Preparing Wills for the shareholders and directors of a limited company to regulate the transfer of shares on death through the use of a discretionary trust combined with a cross option agreement and in the process maximising the availability of business property relief.

Wills

Preparation of Wills for a re-married couple who both had children from previous marriages. Multiple asset protection Will trusts were put in place having careful regard to the need to balance the competing interests of the surviving spouse and children, and the risk of future care home fee payments and financially irresponsible adult children.
